NAEP 2025 Assessments

Fall 2024

Thank You to NAEP 2024 Participating Private Schools!

Thank you to all the private schools that participated in the NAEP 2024 assessments. Private schools account for about 24 percent of all schools in the nation and educate about 9 percent of the nation's students. With the participation of private schools, NAEP can provide a more representative report on how the nation's students are performing in important subjects.

The NAEP 2024 program included mathematics and reading assessments at grades 4, 8, and 12, and science assessments for grade 8. Schools selected for the grade 12 assessments were also asked to participate in the High School Transcript Study. The NAEP 2025 Assessments

From October 2024 through May 2025, the NAEP long-term trend assessments in mathematics and reading for ages 9, 13, and 17 will be administered in public and private schools across the country. Long-term trend results can be linked to NAEP assessments first administered in the early 1970s, allowing us to measure progress over a span of more than 50 years for sampled age groups.

From January to March 2025, NAEP will administer a field test in mathematics and reading at grades 4, 8, and 12. NAEP representatives will administer the assessment using school devices and Internet. This field test is part of NCES's transition plan toward using devices and Internet managed by schools to administer NAEP, which is intended to improve the assessment experience for schools and students. Achievement data from the field test will not be publicly reported but will be used to inform future NAEP assessments.
